HAMMOND, INDIANA

RALSTON TELLS FRIENDS THAT HE WILL BE ELECTED

CHARGES OF "FRAMING" MADE ANEW

CAUSE FOR CONFIDENCE IS PUZZLING

Says Farmers and Organized Labor Are Both Out For Him

(TIMES BUREAU AT STATE CAPITAL, INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 13.—) It was learned this week that ex-Governor Samuel M. Ralston, democratic nominee for United States senator, is telling some of his intimate friends that he is going to be elected to the senate. Since Mr. Ralston is about the only person who is optimistic over the democratic chances, his reasons for believing he is going to win give an interesting sidelight on the campaign.

Mr. Ralston, according to a friend who talked over the campaign with the nominee recently, said he is sure he will defeat Albert J. Beveridge, the republican nominee. Mr. Ralston, according to his interviewer, based his belief on the grounds that he will receive the support of organized labor, farmers and persons said to be dissatisfied with the republican national administration.

While Mr. Ralston is apparently carried away with enthusiasm for his own campaign, other persons in close touch with the situation are practically unanimous in predicting the return to the senate of Senator Albert J. Beveridge, the republican nominee. Mr. Beveridge is wasting no time in idle statements concerning his chances to win, but is going before the people with a message that is arousing admiration in every section of the state. The truth of the matter is, the Ralston campaign has failed to stir a ripple of enthusiasm in Indiana while Beveridge has created an unusual amount of interest in the election for an "off" year when no national tickets are in the field.

Republican leaders are much pleased with the work of Senator James E. Watson in behalf of the republican ticket. Watson is making a whirlwind speaking tour of the state and has given his wholehearted support to the election of Beveridge.

Marion county republican factional differences, which have threatened to result in some friction in the party machinery here, have all been buried, according to republican leaders. Clarence R. Martin, chairman of the republican state speakers' bureau, announced this week that Mayor Lewis Shank, of Indianapolis, and ex-Mayor Charles W. Jewett, who have been heads of opposing republican factions here, have both taken the stump in behalf of Beveridge. With leaders of all factions of the party working unitedly for Beveridge here, Marion county is expected to roll up a substantial majority for Beveridge and the entire state ticket.

Republican leaders were much pleased with the final results of the registration of voters in Indiana. Belief was expressed that the republican strength registered far exceeds the democratic voters. With this situation, it was pointed out, the work of the organization will now be directed toward getting out the vote on election day, which, it was said, will insure a republican victory.

FIND BODY IN A VACANT LOT

An acquaintance for a term of years with Old Man Barleycorn followed by a heavy dose of moonshine are said to have been important factors played in the death of Andrew McFarren, 55 years old, whose body was found in a vacant lot near 8th and Washington, Indiana Harbor, yesterday.

A passerby on his way from work ran upon the body of the man huddled in the waste sands and weeds on Watling st. and notified the Harbor police station. The body was taken to the Burns-McGuinn Undertaking parlors, where it was identified as that of Andrew McFarren. The old gentleman is said to be single and to have had no permanent address in Indiana Harbor for several years. As a man doing odd jobs here and there he is said to have moved his residence with his work.

The findings at an inquest presided over by Deputy Coroner Ostrowski disclosed that the man died from excessive drink. The body will be moved to New Albany, Ind., the old home of the deceased.

CHIEF HAS SOME THINGS ON HIS MIND

Strict enforcement of the traffic regulation making 15 miles an hour the maximum speed in the business district was agreed upon last night by the board of safety and instructions to that effect were transmitted to Chief Blunde.

Beginning tomorrow that district bounded by the Monon tracks on the north and Carroll street on the south, Hohman street on the west and Calumet on the east, for the purposes of this regulation will be considered "congested territory" with the maximum speed limit 15 miles an hour.

Chief Blunde has assigned several motormen to operate exclusively in this district. Violators will be prosecuted, he assured the board last night.

The chief called attention also to flagrant violations of the parking ordinance by jitney operators who crowd "no parking" zones and hinder arrival of passengers. He issued a warning to them to observe the law more closely.

Jitney operators came in for more censure when complaints were registered against them for stopping in the middle of the block in the center of the street, to load and unload passengers. Some jitneys it was pointed out also were operating without any sign on the windshield. This is in violation of the city ordinance regulating jitneys.

Most of the offenders were found to be "independent" operators as contrasted with those belonging to a jitney "association."

Chief Blunde wishes to call attention of downtown men to the habit of many stores to sweep all the refuse into the streets.

Sidewalk cycling is another evil that is growing in Hammond, the chief said.

He has given instructions to his patrolmen to warn one and arrest another in the case of sidewalk cycling.

Fire apparatus from Hammond was summoned when the blaze which started in the engine room threatened to get the better of the West Hammond department.

The fire damaged the engine room, burning off the roof and destroying machinery.

How the fire started could not be ascertained.

Grave fears were felt at first that low water pressure would force firemen to hook their hose to beer vats and spray the blaze with the amber fluid. But in the end the water pressure was sufficient to enable the firemen to get the blaze under control at one point gave rise to the rumor among the watchers that in fact the water had run out and beer was about to be shot into the flames. When the hose swelled again and the liquid spouted out toward the flames the maddest people made a rush to divert the flow toward themselves. Police intervened and assured them the hose contained nothing but water.

CROWN POINT COURT CLEARS WHITING COP OF GARY CHARGES

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES) CROWN POINT, Ind., Oct. 13.—Tony Wagoner, Whiting motorcycle cop, was found not guilty of the charge of assault and battery which had been filed against him in the criminal court by Louis Goldman of Gary. Judge Smith heard the case yesterday.

On Labor Day Wagoner arrested Goldman for speeding and because of difficulties which were experienced in getting the Gary man to the station, a disorderly conduct charge was also lodged against him. Goldman filed an affidavit against Wagoner in the criminal court charging that Wagoner assaulted him in the police station, knocked him down and kicked him while he was lying on the floor.

He testified to that effect in court yesterday and other people who had been in the Goldman machine told similar stories.

Because of the excitement attending the arrest many members of the police and fire department as well as other citizens were attracted to the police station and were also witnesses to what transpired. These were all at Crown Point yesterday and their testimony was quite contrary to that of Goldman. The court decided in favor of the motorcycle cop.

SHOCKING STREET CAR ACCIDENT

John L. Foley Drives At High Speed Head on Into G. and I. Car

His skull fractured, arms and legs badly cut and suffering serious internal injuries, John L. Foley, 23 year old tobacco salesman and a popular Hammond young man, this morning at ten minutes past midnight, was removed from the wreckage of the automobile he had driven head-on into a east bound Gary interurban street car on Sibley st. near Sohi, Hammond.

Foley, speeding west on Sibley st., drove directly into the path of the approaching car. The impact was terrific. Foley's light tobacco delivery truck was demolished. He himself was crushed in the twisted mass of wood and steel. The motor of the filver was pushed backward into the area of the front seat. The car, responding to the call, arrived a few minutes after the accident.

Dr. B. W. Childlaw, who happened to be at the station at the time the call came in, rushed young Foley to the hospital.

There an X-ray examination disclosed a fractured skull. Until late today, Foley remained in a coma. He was revived but his condition was reported still critical. His mother, father and two sisters have remained at his bedside.

James Hayden and Loza Jolliff, crew of the street car, were unable to enlighten police with details of the accident. Hayden, motorman, said his first intimation of the approaching catastrophe was when Foley's car suddenly loomed up ahead out of the dark and crashed full tilt into the car.

Foley is employed as a tobacco salesman working out of the Chicago office of the American Tobacco Co.

Police heard there was a second man in the car at the time of the accident. They were unable to verify this rumor.

STATE NOT TO ACT IN GARY CASE

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE) INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—That the state is powerless to act in regard to the affidavits of three men held at Gary, Ind., in connection with the wreck of the Michigan Central "million dollar" express, in which a charged "third degree" methods were used to force "confessions" from them, was the opinion expressed here today by C. Oliver Holmes of Gary, who obtained the affidavits.

In view of the fact that the Lake county grand jury failed to return indictments against any of the Gary police officials after hearing evidence from the three suspects, it is improbable that the state will take action, Mr. Holmes said. No announcement of action on the part of the state legal department was forthcoming and it is considered likely the governor will abandon any idea of interfering in the case.

The schedules laid today show cash on hand, $10 and only $176 worth of ice and coal in stock. The total assets are $2,300, of which $614 is open accounts. The total debts are $5,701.

Voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today by the Tolleston Ice & Coal Co. in the federal court at Hammond. The corporation has coal sheds and other buildings on a strip of Michigan Central land at Connetquot st. in Gary. These buildings it is said represented an investment of thousands of dollars when they were first erected, but they have depreciated until now they are worth about $900. The company never charged off any of this depreciation and had been paying taxes on the full amount.

The minimum wage rate for women in the District of Columbia ($16.50 a week) is said to be the highest legal rate in the United States.

SAYS PLOT WAS LAID IN GARY

Special Writer Hits The Trail On Michigan Central Train Wreck Case

By W. H. BLODGETT CROWN POINT, Ind., Oct. 12.—The plot to wreck the fast express on the Michigan Central railroad which resulted in the killing of the engineer and fireman near the city of Gary, was laid in Gary. This is the opinion of several of the members of the Lake county grand jury which investigated the crime.

This opinion of the grand jurors is based on the statement of a man who told several officials of the county and who is presumed to have given the same testimony before the grand jury, that money had been offered him to take part in the wrecking of the fast train on the morning of Aug. 20, 1922.

The name of this man is carefully guarded by the persons to whom he made the statement because they believe that eventually they will, through him, be able to apprehend the arch conspirators in the crime, and they are afraid also that if his identity becomes known that he will be murdered.

The investigation of the wrecking of the train was made by members of the Gary police department and the police department of Chicago. The first persons investigated by the Gary police department were Mike Buros and George Sabo of Gary. These men made affidavits that they were held up by plain clothes men connected with the department of police at Gary and suffered the third degree. Buros testified in an affidavit he gave to C. Oliver Holmes, state senator from Lake county, that he was taken to the police headquarters in Gary by three plain clothes men, one of whom is a Slavish policeman. The officers surrounded him and one of them struck him repeatedly in the face with a blackjack, he says.

LAKE COUNTY TO HAVE BEAUTIFUL CEMETERY

Improvement work has already been started on what is promised to be Lake county's most beautiful cemetery. It is to be located on Ridge road one mile east of Broadway on the Hobart town line.

Although final details in the transfer were not closed up until today, the purchasers had already started developing the project. John C. Henning and Leslie J. Nichols, both of St. Louis, Mo., have purchased the 55-acre tract of Ernest De St. Aubin, paying him $40,000. It was first sold to the Evergreen Park Burial Co., but difficulties arose and the company could not go through with the deal. Mr. De St. Aubin then found the new purchasers.

He had already gone through the work of laying out the streets and making such changes in the plat as would meet cemetery requirements. These had been approved by the Messrs. Henning and Nichols have already opened offices in Gary at 555 Broadway and have six salesmen on the job starting the campaign to market the cemetery lots.

The American Park Builders of Chicago have been given the contract for doing the landscape work. This will be under the direction of M. H. West, head of the Chicago city planning commission. The same firm is doing the improvement work on the new addition to Oak Hill cemetery in Hammond.

The topography of the Hobart tract lends itself well to landscape work and the developers say that it will be possible to produce one of the most beautiful cemeteries in this part of the country at moderate cost. Its location makes it reasonably accessible to the entire north half of Lake county.

Phillip Ukman 'Stool Pigeon' Case Brings Up New Accusations

Charges of "framing" on the part of the Gary police which were first heard when Phillip Ukman, "stool pigeon" of Bert Morgan's federal agents, was arrested on a charge of bribery and which were not refuted by the Lake county grand jury, are heard again from two sources this week.

On the same day Ukman was released from jail under bond, following his indictment for forgery, his father-in-law, Elita Viator, was arrested. Police visited his home that night and carried away a quantity of liquor which they said they found in the attic. First Viator claimed that he did not rent the attic. He said it was retained by his landlord who lived in the basement.

Then Viator's daughter made the astounding statement that when she heard the racket the police were making in ascending the attic stairs, which are at the rear of the house, she opened a door on the back porch and saw one of the policemen going up stairs. Under his coat tails, she says, she plainly saw two bottles of liquor. Other officers had preceded him. Then they came down with the moonshine. Hence the charge that the police "framed" the "red" and "planted" the liquor in order to bring Ukman into disrepute.

Now comes Gaspare Monte, who is listed as one of the government's witnesses in the conspiracy case against Judge William Dunn and Attorney Blaz Lucas.

The other day an Italian lawyer of Gary called Monte and asked him to go on the bond of a young Italian who had been arrested by the police. Monte remonstrated but the fellow-countryman appeal was strong. He was told that the man would be given a hearing the following morning in police court so the bond would be posted for only a day. He consented. The bond was $2,000.

Next morning Monte appeared at the city court and was told that the violator had failed to appear and from information received he had left the state. Monte was further informed that his $2,000 bond had been forfeited.

This procedure is unusual in Lake county. Technically the bond should have been forfeited on the man's failure to appear. But it isn't being done that way. A bondsman is generally given some time in which to get his man back into the state and often such a matter will drag along for a year without a forfeiture being made. And besides, the prosecutor has the power on his own motion to have the bond set aside. The circumstances of course are to be considered.

Monte has already taken the matter up with federal officials in Hammond but no intimation has been made as to what course the government will pursue if any in behalf of the bondsman.

DRY AGENTS RESTRAINED BY INJUNCTION

(BULLETIN) By W. H. ATKINS (STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The federal restraining order issued in New York to prevent prohibition agents from interfering with liquor aboard vessels of the International Mercantile Marine Company will have the effect of holding up enforcement of Attorney General Daugherty's latest bone-dry ruling at all American ports. It was declared today by Judge J. J. Britt, chief counsel to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

By W. H. ATKINS (STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Determined moves by foreign ship lines to secure inflexible action against enforcement of the terms of the Daugherty ship liquor opinion, may frustrate the entire prohibition ship plan and nullify the effect of any regulations that may later be issued, according to officials of the Department of Justice today.

Attorney General Daugherty when advised that the International Mercantile Marine had secured from Judge Hand a temporary restraining order against federal agents, regarded it as the first of a succession of such suits by other ship companies of foreign ownership to thwart the government's enforcement program.

Officials of the Treasury department said the regulations which are being drafted by the department are of such a nature that they will be greatly delayed. Apparently the treasury is awaiting to weigh the full effect of the Daugherty opinion and to study the efforts of foreign ships to combat the decision.
